

Arvada Center for the Arts and Humanities

Health and Safety requirements

June 19, 2020

In order to comply with public health orders from government authorities and for the health and safety of our students, staff and volunteers, anyone attending programs at the Arvada Center must agree to the following:

Maintain social distancing

Wash hands for at least 20 seconds with soap and warm water before entering a studio/classroom

Wear a non-medical face covering/face mask that covers the nose and mouth. This covering must be worn at all times when in the Arvada Center

No sharing of food or drink

Students must enter through the front doors and take a health screening including taking their temperature before entering the rest of the building

Follow any additional guidelines set in place for specific classes

By signing this document, I agree to comply with all health and safety guidelines established by the Arvada Center. I understand that if I do not follow these guidelines, I will be asked to leave my class and will not be given a refund.
